SACCO DEFENSE MAKES LAST FIGHT

WILBUR D. NESBIT,
FAMOUS POET, DIES
SUDDENLY SATURDAY

Author of "Your Flag
And My Flag" Was
Born In Xenia

Wilbur Dick Nesbit, 55, well known poet and advertising man, author of the famous "Your Flag and My Flag," and numerous other poems, a native of Xenia, but a resident of Cedarville in his early youth, died suddenly at his home in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, Saturday night.

J. Emerson Nesbit, of Dayton, his brother, said while he had not been well for some time, no alarm was felt regarding his condition. Funeral services will be conducted at his Evanston residence at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and interment will be at Evanston.

John A. Nesbit, cashier of the Xenia National Bank, and Miss Flora Nesbit, of this city, cousins of the deceased, will not attend the funeral, the former being out of the city on a vacation in Kentucky.

Mr. Nesbit was born in Xenia, September 16, 1871, at the home of his grandparents on W. Main St., the house which was his birthplace becoming now the property of H. L. Binder. His parents, J. Harvey and Gabel Fichthorn Nesbit, who had spent only a few months in Xenia, moved to Cedarville when he was an infant, and he grew up there. He left Cedarville at the age of eighteen and went to

SHERIFF'S POSSES SURROUND FIELD TO CAPTURE MURDERER

Second Youth, Also Victim Of Bullets, Seriously Hurt

MT. GILEAD, O., Aug. 22.—Sheriff's deputies of Morrow and Knox Counties today were surrounding a cornfield, near here, where Richard Cole, alleged slayer of Harry Swank, 17, Ankenyton, is said to be hiding. Cole, is said to have eluded capture last night, after having shot Harry Swank, and seriously wounding Richard Roberts, 20, Newark.

MT. VERNON, O., Aug. 22.—Harry Swank, 17, Ankenyton, near here, is dead and Richard Roberts, 20, Newark, is reported dying at Mercy Hospital, while sheriff's posse of Knox and Morrow Counties are searching for Richard Cole, alias Joseph Smith, 27, Fredericktown, near here.

According to reports, Cole shot the youths with a small automatic pistol in front of his home, Sunday night, after an argument. Cole, it is said, accused Swank and Roberts of stealing a gun from his neophyte.

Swank, it is said, was shot in the back; Roberts twice near the heart and twice in the left arm.

PAL OF "FLAPPER BANDIT" IS CAUGHT

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 22.—Implicated as a bank robber in the confession of Vivian Ingram, the "flapper bandit," Alfred Sheets, 27, is awaiting arraignment here today. Sheets surrendered to police last night, after many urgent appeals from his wife. He is charged with being one of two men who robbed the Ohio Savings Bank and Trust Company branch of $10,000, February 26.

Vivian Ingram is serving time at the Marysville Reformatory for women, for another robbery.

WIFE LOSES HOPE
CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 22.—Hope was abandoned today by the wife of Captain William P. Erwin, pilot of the "Dallas Spirit," Pacific mercy plane, that he ever will be found alive.

A brother, ill with typhoid fever, in the West Collingswood home of her grandparents, monopolized the attention of Mrs. Erwin during the first trying hours after her husband disappeared, but she has been forced to leave the sickbed and give way to her grief. She is now prostrated by sorrow.

Only a technicality placed Mrs. Erwin in the New Jersey home of her relatives instead of in the Pacific with her husband. She and Captain Erwin had completed plans for a flight around the world when at the last minute, the Erwins learned that all contestants for the Easterwood prize had to be 21 years of age or over. Mrs. Erwin is only 19.

Howard Hackett Wins Pony

Howard Hackett, 13, Yellow Springs, is the new owner of "Beauty," the pony given away by The Xenia Gazette in a circulation contest that closed Saturday night.

Howard was determined to have the pony and his determination Saturday took the form of a last-minute bundle of subscriptions which credited him votes sufficient to win.

Howard finished with a total of 16,150 votes, just 2,900 votes ahead of Edwin Anderson, Xenia, who compiled a total of 13,250 votes before the contest closed Saturday. Monday morning Howard arose early, caught an early car to Xenia and arrived at the Gazette office with the first of the office force to claim his prize.

The face of the winner beamed

Monday upon all who surveyed him. It seems that several kids prove he knows how to treat a pony. The winner saw "Beauty" stable. Right across the street is the broad means home lawn where "Beauty" can eat grass to his heart's content.

Howard approved of "Beauty's" proud appearance, his glossy coat and his sturdy strength. And "Beauty" approved of Howard's beaming countenance and decided they would be friends. Whereupon Howard sealed the bargain with a lump of sugar.

Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hackett, 336 Phillips St., Yellow Springs, and will be a pupil in the eighth grade next year. He lives next door to Mrs. Margaret Getz, of whom he is quite fond, and why shouldn't be

FIND NO TRACE OF DOLE PILOTS OR BILL ERWIN

Ships Continue To Sweep Ocean For Three Planes

Hope that the seven missing Hawaiian flyers are still alive waned to its lowest ebb today. The Dole planes, "Miss Doran" and "Golden Eagle," were last seen six days ago by lighthouse keepers on the desolate Farallon Islands, 30 miles off the Golden Gate.

The "Dallas Spirit," piloted by "Lone Star Bill" Erwin and guided by Alvin Eichwald, disappeared into the void last Friday night. Erwin's radio told of a tailspin and then whined into silence. Airmen fear he nose-dived into the sea and sank beneath the surface. His plane was heavily laden for a 32-hour flight to Hawaii to search for Auggy Pedlar, Vilas Knope and Mildred Doran in the "Miss Doran," and for Jack Frost and Gordon Scott in the Hearst monoplane.

ACCUSED FACE DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR TUESDAY MORNING

Desperate Efforts To Save Alleged Slayers Launched Simultaneously—Chief Justice Taft IsAppealed To

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—Fighting desperately against time and in the "last ditch," an imposing array of lawyers made six rapid-fire attempts today to save the lives of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, scheduled to go to the electric chair a few minutes after midnight. These moves were:

1—Chief Defense Attorney Arthur D. Hill and others asked Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States court at Isle Au Haut, Maine, for a stay of execution.

2—Associate Defense Attorney M. A. Musmanno tried to arrange an interview with Chief Justice William Howard Taft across the American side of the Canadian border.

3—A drive was started on Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his executive council for another respite.

4. A new action of a "new and startling nature" was filed in the United States District Court by three famous lawyers—Arthur Garfield Hayes, New York, Francis Fisher Kane, Philadelphia, and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the United States supreme court, counseled by Edwin Anderson, 16,150; Edwin Anderson, 13,250; George Garrett, 7,250; Guido Pesavento, 3,800; Willard Hodson, 2,500; James McCormick, 2,500; Bud Nelson, 2,150; Clarence Rachford, 1,850; Jacque Adams, 1,800.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—In a final and desperate effort to obtain an injunction for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the United States supreme court, counseled by Edwin Anderson, 16,150; Edwin Anderson, 13,250; George Garrett, 7,250; Guido Pesavento, 3,800; Willard Hodson, 2,500; James McCormick, 2,500; Bud Nelson, 2,150; Clarence Rachford, 1,850; Jacque Adams, 1,800.

5. Federal intervention was sought through United States Senators David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, and William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—In a final and desperate effort to obtain an injunction for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the United States supreme court, counseled by Edwin Anderson, 16,150; Edwin Anderson, 13,250; George Garrett, 7,250; Guido Pesavento, 3,800; Willard Hodson, 2,500; James McCormick, 2,500; Bud Nelson, 2,150; Clarence Rachford, 1,850; Jacque Adams, 1,800.

Michael Angelo Musmanno, one of the lawyers representing Sacco and Vanzetti, got in communication with Chief Justice Taft on the long distance telephone, asking him if he would entertain a plea for a stay of execution for the two men.

Chief Justice Taft replied that as he is out of the jurisdiction of the United States supreme court, being on foreign soil—he could not act. He said that he did not plan to return to the United States until August 31.

Chief Justice Taft asked why the defense attorneys had not appealed to associate supreme court justices who are in the United States.

Musmanno then briefly recounted the efforts that had been made to obtain stays of execution from associate justices Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis. The former rejected the appeal and the latter explained he could not act because of the interest of relatives in the case.

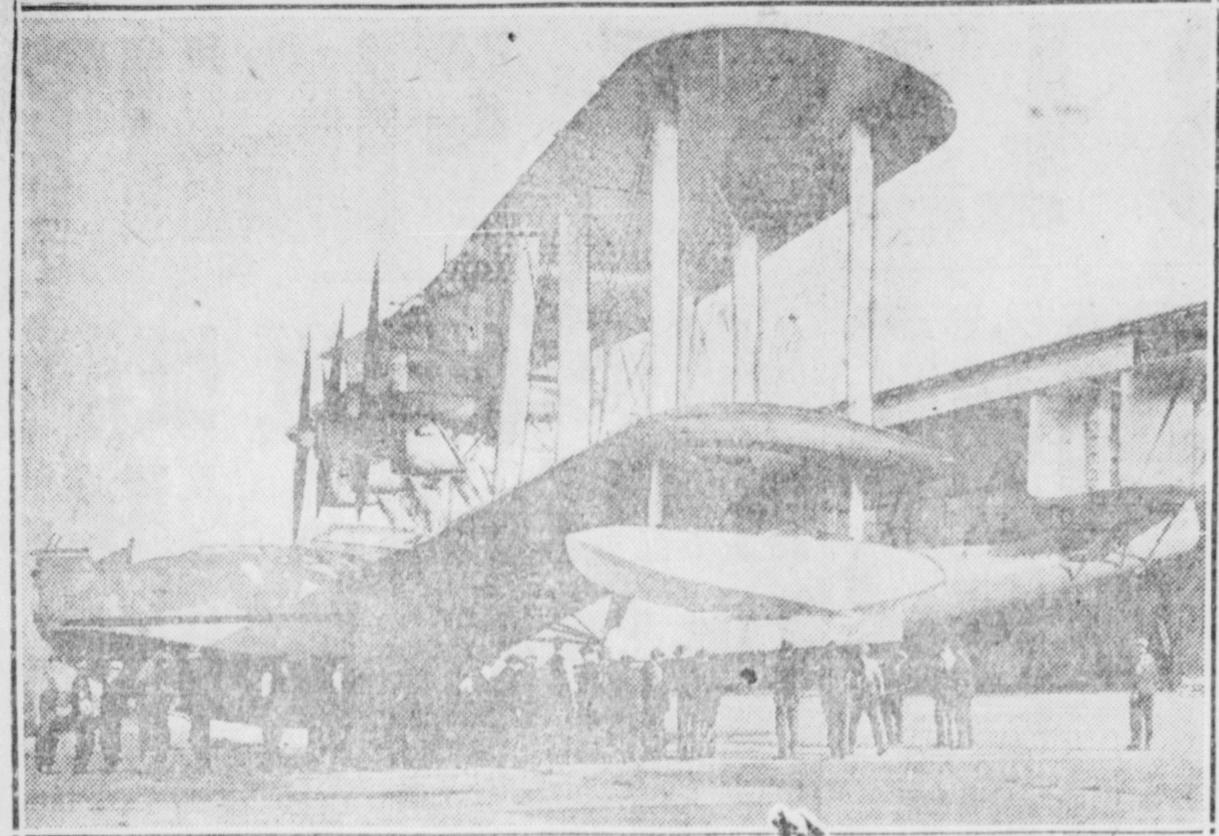

Attorney Musmanno told Chief Justice Taft an effort was being made this morning to get in touch with Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone, who is spending his vacation at Isle De Haut, twenty miles off the Maine coast near Rockland.

FLAGS FLOWN WHEN XENIA CELEBRATES COMMUNITY PICNIC

"Old Glory" floated in the breeze Monday, when business men placed out the flag as a part of the celebration incident to the community picnic in Shawnee Park, Monday evening.

The entire city took on a festive air and Xenians were enthusiastically awaiting the hour set for the picnic to begin. The picnic program was scheduled to start at 3 o'clock with games and contests for the children lasting until 5 o'clock.

The Boy Scouts were scheduled to stage a tilting match at 5 o'clock. The Auto Polo Club held two games enlivening the picnic spirit, one at 2:30 and the other at 4. The cafeteria supper, furnished from booths placed throughout the park was set for 5:30 o'clock.

The Ohio State Auto Insurance Broadcasting Orchestra, will give a program from 6 to 7:30 o'clock. Community singing will be engaged in at 7:30 to 7:45 o'clock. Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, will give a talk at 7:45 o'clock, followed by U. S. Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, who was to deliver the main address at 8 o'clock.

The program will be completed with a band concert from 8:30 to 10 p. m. Hundreds of Xenians from the city and surrounding country were expected at the picnic, which will be the largest community affair of its kind since the Chamber of Commerce annual picnics several years ago.

LITA CHAPLIN GETS DECREE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, is free of her marriage bonds that tied her to her famous husband, Charles Spencer Chaplin, millionaire funnyman of the screen.

One hour after court opened here this afternoon, Judge Guerin awarded her the decree on grounds of cruelty.

A property settlement will give the former Lita Grey of the films, $625,000 and the custody of her two infant sons.

Mr. P. A. White, New Burlington, is recovering from a sinus operation, performed in Xenia Monday.

Mrs. Eunice Ayres, Springfield Pike, underwent a nasal operation Monday morning.

The Rev. Charles E. Nash and family, Mount Morris, N. Y., are spending their vacation at the home of the Rev. Mr. Nash's mother, east of Xenia. The Rev. Mr. Nash filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday.

Farm Notes

note if crab grass does not kill out the young plants.

Many lawns are sodded at inordinate expense, the university specialists have found, because their owners do not realize that seedling is not only much cheaper but actually gives a better lawn in the long run than the average job of sodding. Steep terraces, however, are usually best sodded.

A good seed mixture for Ohio is Kentucky bluegrass 70 per cent, red-top 15 per cent, white clover 5 per cent, and timothy or English ryegrass, or both, 10 per cent. These proportions can be varied considerably with little effect on the result. For very dense shade rough-stalked meadow grass is better than Kentucky bluegrass.

RECKLESS DRIVER GIVEN SENTENCE

HO HUM! NOTHING TO DO

The monotony of life in Xenia twice within a week, Robert Hart, late from Chicago, told Mayor John Prugh Monday.

"There's nothing else to do for recreation," said Hart, a shoe worker, who came to Xenia two weeks ago.

"Fifteen and costs," replied his honor. "First it was $10 and costs, and the next time it will be $25 and costs. You are according by a graduated scale."

Hart paid his fine.

FUNSETT RESIGNS POSITION AT HAGAR PAPER BOARD PLANT

PAIR GETS FINES

Richard Reed and Harry Martin, both of Dayton, got drunk and engaged in an argument in the Interurban restaurant Saturday night. They pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly charges before Mayor Prugh and paid fines amounting to $10 and costs.

FORFEIT BONDS

R. Williams and F. W. Bell, arrested by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shaugh on speeding charges, forfeited $5 bonds deposited for their appearance in court.

LIGHTHISER BUYS ORIENT HILL STORE

H. G. Funseth has resigned his position with The Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company at Cedarville, in order to take a position as resident manager of the paper mill at Noblesville, Ind. It has been announced. He will sever his connection with the Cedarville firm September 1.

Mr. Funseth came to the Cedarville plant five years ago from Pittsburgh, when W. W. Galloway became general manager of the Cedarville mill. He specialized as an engineer and efficiency expert, and his services were valuable in rebuilding the Greene County plant increasing the capacity and modernizing the mill. The mill with which he will become connected in Indiana, is owned by the Ball Brothers, millionaire glass manufacturers of Muncie, and is larger than the Cedarville mill.

Mr. Funseth served for two years as mayor of Cedarville, having been elected although not a candidate, the voters writing his name on the ticket. He is now a member of the village council.

Mr. Anderson has not announced his future plans. Mr. Lightisher will continue his work at the Dayton and Xenia Traction Co. ticket office here.

DISMISS CASE FOR LACK OF TESTIMONY

County Commissioners have set Monday, September 12 at 10 a. m. as the date for hearing claims for compensation and damages caused by the widening of Inter-county highway No. 525, the Fairfield Pike, to the regulation width of sixty feet for state roads.

WILL HEAR CLAIMS ON SEPTEMBER 12

When testimony of the two prosecuting witnesses conflicted, Probate Judge S. C. Wright dismissed a charge of selling intoxicating liquor against Calvin Null, of Osborne, Monday morning.

Raymond Lich testified that he and Clarence Blair bought the liquor, that they drove to the Null house, that Blair went in and Null handed him the bottle. This was denied by Blair who is now serving a sentence in the Dayton work house for possession and intoxication. He said that they drove past Null's house but did not enter.

Attorney F. L. Johnson represented Null.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE SAINTS:—God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about Him. Psalm 89:7.

SPEEDING OCEAN TRAFFIC

Flying off on to passenger liners plying between the United States and Europe ought to become fairly general practice within the next few years, among those who can afford to pay for the luxury of saving a day or two in a transatlantic voyage.

Already it has been demonstrated that the thing can be done. It remains for the larger liners to get the practice going as a commercial enterprise, out of which the owners of the liners should make money. Not every passenger liner can afford to carry such space-occupiers as passenger airplanes, but all of the very large vessels should be thus equipped in the near future.

Meanwhile, we shall be looking for the air liner which shall cross the ocean regularly with a small load of passengers and mail at each trip. These will fly just as mid-ocean landing stations are ready.

WHEN BIG BUSINESS LEADERS PLAY

That the necessity for regular exercise is now recognized by the most successful of modern industrial and financial giants is the conclusion reached by Otto Stepat, writing in "Forbes Magazine." "It is becoming recognized," Mr. Stepat writes, "that large scale success is in no minor degree dependent upon exercise. The men of power in Wall street are nearly all big and strong. The leading merchants and manufacturers of New York City, as they gather at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce or the Merchants' Association, make an impression of physical vigor and energy that could not be equalled by a convention of farmers."

According to Mr. Stepat the love of executives for athletics and the tendency toward its through indulgence, are likewise resulting in more vacations. The athletic character, too, of executives tends toward an increasing attention to the current sport of employees, and the belief that a worker who does not play cannot be 100 percent efficient in body or mind is found to hold good for the employee as well as the executive.

Numerous leaders of American industry have their pet method for keeping fit.

John D. Rockfeller is already famous for his nine holes of golf. Other executives who use this form of exercise to keep in trim are Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Guaranty Trust company of New York; Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company; George F. Baker, president of the First National Bank of New York; and W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

THE UPSTAGE PEOPLE

There are people who are both sad and funny. They are the "upstage people"—the ones who take themselves so seriously they are never quite natural. It is said that the Greatest Man who ever lived was so powerful he could feed five thousand people from a few baskets of food. And this man was not to proud to ask a lowly peasant woman for a drink of water at a roadside well.

"Nothing is more simple than greatness," said Emerson. "Indeed, to be simple is to be great."

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Children cannot be grouped and classified according to age. Some are smart and some are dull. Others are worse than that. Intelligence tests, little believed in by old-fashioned people, are used to try them out. Grown-ups might find some of the questions hard. For example, in the Binet test, a question for twelve-year-olds is this: Explain the meaning of pity, revenge, charity, envy, justice. And sixteen-year-olds are asked to distinguish between laziness and idleness; evolution and revolution; poverty and misery; character and reputation.

BLUE STRIPES

When Lord, director of the budget, noticed that government mail bags had blue stripes he asked why. He went all the way along the line and clear to the top. He never found anybody who knew. So he discontinued the blue stripes and saved the government $40,000 a year.

Have you some blue stripes that might just as well be dropped off?

Songs of a Housewife

BY MARJORIE K. RAWLINGS

PLEASING EVERYBODY

(Suggested by Mrs. Victor L.)

Pleasing everybody—or trying to! Wondering whether a meal will "do"—This is the housewife's fount of grief—And that's the trouble with a roast of beef!

Some like it hot and others cold, Some want it standing, others rolled. Most like it rare, but there's always one Who feels abused if it's not well done.

Down on my knees by the oven door— Had I better give it a minute more? When it's cooked just right, it's brown of skin, Well-done without but rare within.

When it's being carved my heart stands still— Is it too well-done for Cousin Bill? The crisis is passed and my breathing's eased— The roast's just right—everybody's pleased!

THE OFF YEAR

Household Hints

By Mrs. Mary Morton

MENU HINT

I am recommending that you get a fair-sized ham—the weight, of course, depending on the size of your family. That you broil or fry two or three slices, then boil or bake the rest, and serve hot, then cold sliced, and finish it in various ways such as ham omelet, stuffed peppers, salads, etc. In this menu we bake the ham and serve it hot.

Baked Ham Baked Potatoes
Brown Parsnips Radishes
Lettuce and Cucumber Radishes
Berries Filled Cookies Tea

TODAY'S RECIPES

Filled Cookies—One cup chopped raisins, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup water, one tablespoon flour. Boil till thick. This makes the filling for cookies. In a bowl mix one cup sugar, one-half cup shortening, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, three and one-half cups flour, two tea-spoons cream of tartar, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon vanilla. Roll thin.

SUGGESTIONS

Important Trifles. Keep olive oil in the refrigerator. Lingerie clasps may be made at home by attaching little rosettes of ribbon to tiny safety pins.

Perspiration stains may be removed from white clothes by dampening the article with lemon juice and salt before the clothes are put into soap and water.

The shine on shoes will last longer if a piece of ordinary was rubbed lightly over the shoes after polishing them and then rubbed smooth with a soft cloth.

Less sugar will be required in cooking sour fruits if a pinch of bicarbonate of soda is added to the juice.

In creaming butter and sugar for a cake a little hot milk added will aid the creaming process.

Do not have the pan more than three parts full when making jam or jelly, otherwise there will not be room enough for the mixture to boil as it should.

To prevent the formation of a hard crust on top of bread brush it over with butter or oleomargarine as soon as you remove it from the oven.

CORN AND RICE MUFFINS (Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)

Pour two-thirds of a cup of hot milk over one cupful of cooked rice and work with a fork to separate the grains. Add half a cup of corn meal to the mixture, two tablespoons bacon fat or melted butter, half a teaspoon salt, and one tablespoon brown sugar. Set aside to cool. When the mixture is cold add half a cup of flour, three teaspoons baking powder, heat thoroughly. Bake in well greased muffin tins in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

YOUR CHURCH

Why do we have so many churches with vacant pews, when fewer churches not only could accomplish more, but having less overhead cost, could afford to employ more competent preachers?

The same question might be asked about lodges, college fraternities, societies founded upon ancestry, military orders, and clubs of one kind or another. Why are there so many different kinds?

At first thought, the answer might seem to be because there are so many kinds of people. But that does not offer sufficient explanation.

Two different churches do not exist because each draws one particular type of folk; for there is probably just as much variety among the people in one church as in both. The real answer is the clique instinct in mankind, the desire to form little exclusive groups. Having organized a set, or a club, or a church, those on the inside have the satisfaction of feeling that they are better in certain respects than people who do not belong.

When I was a youngster and at tended the Presbyterian Church, I had the impression that Presbyterians, because of certain slight differences in beliefs, were much superior as a class to Methodists and Baptists; I don't recall that anybody ever told me so. I simply sensed it. But so strong was this feeling, though nothing was said about it, amongst us Presbyterians, that even today when I meet a Methodist or an Episcopalian, I find myself thinking that he is not the social or religious equal of a Presbyterian. My reasoning power tells me that such an idea is utterly absurd; but when I don't stop to reason—as often happens—the same sneaking notion remains that I was raised in a church somewhat better than his.

Now, if everybody in town belonged to one big church, what would the fun be? How could one person feel that he was the sectarian superior of somebody else?

Put by quibbling over an unimportant detail of creed or ritual, it is possible to find sufficient excuse to break into smaller groups, each happily sure that it is nearer to the truth than the others.

There are four principal ways in which the tubercle bacillus gains access to the body:

1. Through Dust: The sputum from careless or ignorant tubercular patients dries and passes into the air as dust, and this is inhaled. Probably the fewest cases are caused in this manner because the germs, most of them, are dead by the time they are dried enough to get into the dust. However, fresh sputum can be stepped in and tracked into the house; bacilli crawling on the floor, and putting things in their mouths from the floor, may be infected in this manner. Hence the importance of enforcing the Sidewalk Expectoration Laws.

2. Through Droplet Infection: When people cough or sneeze or even talk, they throw out a fine spray of mucus from the mouth and nose. If the person coughing, sneezing or talking has open tuberculosis—that is, tubercles in which the tubercles have broken down—the tubercle bacilli are very apt to be thrown out.

3. Through food, soiled hands, toys, etc., which have been handled by a patient with open tuberculosis.

4. Through milk and milk products, from cattle infected with tuberculosis.

Get Your Vitamin A.

There is one very important factor in contracting tuberculosis and other infectious diseases, and this is lowered resistance. You know the factors that cause lowered resistance. They are prolonged overwork, insufficient sleep and rest, insanitary surroundings, occupations involving the inhalation of dust or other irritative particles, vicious personal habits and disorders of nutrition, especially under-feeding and lack of vitamin A. Sometimes infectious diseases of childhood, measles particularly, will lower the resistance so that the tubercle germs, if they are present, will become active.

(The old idea that children must have the infectious diseases, and the sooner the better, is very harmful.)

It is now thought that most cases of tuberculosis are contracted during childhood. If the disease does not develop until adult life, it is believed that the germs gained access to the body in childhood, but Nature walled them off so they caused no trouble until there was some great lowering of resistance, and then the germs were set free and caused the active disease. It is found at autopsies that the majority of lungs show there has been some slight infection from tuberculosis at some time during the life.

Most of the tuberculosis of childhood is contracted from milk of infected cows, and it is estimated that from seven to ten per cent of the cattle have tuberculosis.

That is why it is very important to have boiled or pasteurized milk unless certified milk can be obtained.

GEOLIST ESCAPES FROM CAVE BY NEW PASSAGE INTO GEORGIA

Explorer In Semi-Hysterical Condition After Escape
—Followed Air Current To Hitherto Unknown Opening

NICKAJACK CAVE, Shohola, Tenn., Aug. 22.—In a semi-hysterical condition, Lawrence Ashley, geologist-explorer, lost in the myriad of subterranean passages, lakes and rivers of Nickajack Cave for almost a week, was resting easily today after having walked from his living tomb through a new exit in Georgia.

Emerging from his living tomb yesterday morning after having spent eight days burrowing through the subterranean passages of Sand Mountain, Ashley stumbled into the sunlight and fresh air again at a wild and desolate spot known as Castle Rock on the Georgia side, about five miles from the entrance of the cave.

His face black with a week's beard, his clothing torn and caked with clay and his battered and torn knapsack upon his bent back, Ashley came upon the child of John Campbell, local farmer, who screamed the news to her father. Refusing help, he made his way towards home, babbling wildly and incoherently.

After a hearty meal, Ashly narrated a brief account of his experiences in the underground caverns of Sand Mountain, warded off newspapermen and went to sleep.

"I started Monday morning to explore the new opening which I had discovered and which I thought must lead to a chamber or inner cavern that had not been explored before," he said. "With provisions and equipment for a stay of two days in the cave, I took my time about the exploration and it was Tuesday afternoon when I started out."

The entrance to this new passage was very small, a hole through a lot of loose dirt. I had been afraid that this dirt would collapse behind me but it was not until I started out, crawling backwards through the opening, that my fears were realized and there was an avalanche of loose dirt and rocks.

"The fall was heavy and the opening was completely closed. I was trapped by a thick new wall of boulders and clay, through which I figured it would be almost impossible to dig. And there I was shut up in the strange passage that I had been planning to explore and in which I already had spent two days.

"I remember having found a spring in this new passage and that as I stood, by this spring which was in a large chamber, I felt a current of air coming as if from within. I remember having made up my mind at that time to go into the matter of this strange current with the thought that it indicated a new outlet. Now that I was trapped and prevented by the slide from retracing the old way to the cave mouth, I decided to seek the course of the air current."

Ashley then related how he worked along the new passage seeking the source of the air current, sometimes walking and sometimes crawling through the variegated crevices where once an underground river had carved its channel before seeking a lower level. Where the passage was too small, he cut his way with a trench shovel until he found the air current's source from which he emerged dazed, hysterical and semi-conscious from his weird experience.

WILL HOLD SHOOT

A clay bird shoot will be a feature of the picnic of the Greene County Fox and Coon Hunters' Association, Wednesday, in the Turner grove near Jamestown, according to a last minute decision. Guns should be taken by those who wish to take part in the shooting.

NICKELS ARE TRUMPS

A Good Cigar at 5c per is Winning Smokers Everywhere!

It's hard to believe that a cigar at five cents can be really mild, fragrant, satisfying. Plenty of them are advertised that way. And plenty of them have disappointed smokers who tried them out. Not strange that many men shy at five-cent sellers.

But there is a cigar at that price which really satisfies. There is a cigar at that price which is made of rich, ripe tobacco. A fragrant, mild and mellow cigar which has appealed to particular smoking men for thirty years. The name is Havana Ribbon.

Havana Ribbon couldn't please you more if it cost twice as much. And it would cost much more if it wasn't made in tremendous volume. Say "Havana Ribbon" to the man behind the counter at any cigar store. All you need is a single nickel and a little faith. Your reward will come when you light up!

WILBUR D. NESBIT, FAMOUS POET, DIES SUDDENLY SATURDAY

Indiana, where he embarked immediately in the newspaper business. He was employed on papers in Anderson, Richmond and Indianapolis, and while in Indianapolis in 1899, married Miss Mary Lee Jenkins, who survives him with three sons.

Following a short dip in advertising, he resumed his newspaper work and became employed by the Baltimore American, where he ran a column of humor under the name of "Josh Winks." It was while he was working for the American that his poetic ability became more fully developed and he wrote the famous poem, "Your Flag and My Flag," which in beauty of presentation and patriotic sense stands almost unrivaled. It has been set to music by various composers.

He afterward went to Chicago where he conducted a column for the Chicago Tribune for several years. While he was there his first book "The Trail to Boyland," a collection of poems bearing the name of the first, which was said to portray incidents of his youth in Cedarville, was issued.

A number of years ago he deserted the newspaper game for the advertising business but continued his writings. He was successful in business as well as a writer, and at the time of his death was vice-president of the William H. Rankin Advertising Agency.

He wrote "Girl of My Dreams" a musical play, which was a huge success about dozen years ago, starring John Hyams and his wife, Lelia McIntyre, and which was reprinted later.

Since his first collection of poems was given to the public, Mr. Nesbit issued other works; all his poems being characterized by a beauty which touched the heart and many of them of a quality which will cause them to live always in the hearts of those who see beauty in the things of everyday life. His later books of poems were "The Gentleman Ragman," 1906; "The Land of Make Believe and other Christmas Poems," 1906; "A Friend or Two," 1908.

He was a member of the Forty Club, Chicago; the Columbia Club, Indianapolis and the University Club, Evanston. He had been a resident of Chicago twenty years.

DETECTIVE URGES REINSTATEMENT OF "FIRED" EMPLOYEES

sons connected with the Wilberforce University. It strikes me that the reasons given out to the public for the discharge of these persons are only "smoke screens" to hide the real facts that the identity of the person or persons upon whose shoulders the responsibility of the irregularities and discrepancies rests.

The persons dismissed have no great political influence, at least not of sufficient importance to enable them to retain their jobs. They are entirely innocent of the charge lodged against them but it has always been and probably will be for many years to come that the weak and oftentimes the innocent are at the mercy of the strong, and where there is any considerable degree of personal interest involved the strong have no mercy.

I do not consider it any special honor to impose the penalty of dismissal of innocent persons in order to save, to a greater or lesser degree, just criticism of the person or persons whose official conduct in the handling of the funds of Wilberforce University, inspired the investigation.

It is almost unbelievable that the Board of Trustees of Wilberforce University could ignore the report of your examiner, Mr. Auditor, and dismiss employees whom your examiner stated in his report to be capable, efficient, honest and industrious and yet retain the superintendent, whom this same examiner stated in the same report, clearly, is subject to great criticism without their conduct meeting your disapproval and public condemnation.

In order to remove all doubt as to the justice as well as to the accuracy of the foregoing statements permit me to call your attention to page 51, paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of the report of Mr. E. Frank Brown, the gentleman employed by you to make the investigation. Said report filed in your office February 3rd, 1927, recites the following:

"The superintendent went ahead to get the building ready for use and there was expended $763.08 by force account to finish the job. Hearing that some of the work was done over because the work was not properly done by the Columbus Plumbing Company, Xenia, your examiner called on Bockett-King Company who did work there amounting to $176.88 and they said the work they did was new work and so far as they knew the work of the Columbus Plumbing Company was well done."

"THE MANNER IN WHICH THIS IMPROVEMENT WAS HANDLED SHOWS VERY POOR MANAGEMENT AND BAD BUSINESS METHODS."

"The agreement with the Columbus Plumbing Co. meant nothing as the result showed. THE SUPPLICATION OF PAYMENT FOR MATERIAL WHILE NOT PERHAPS CRIMINAL WAS, TO SAY THE LEAST, DONE IN A WAY THAT LOOKS LIKE AN ATTEMPT TO DECEIVE THE STATE PAID TWICE FOR THE SAME MATERIAL WITH AN ADVANCE IN ONE PAYMENT OF 10 PER CENT OVER THE OTHER. CONSEQUENTLY THE STATE IS OUT THE AMOUNT OF THAT PAYMENT, $246.90. The Columbus Plumbing Co., received $246.90 for material they never paid for, and this amount should never have been included in their voucher. The Xenia Coal Company was not benefited in the transaction other than a fair profit on merchandise sold. SUPT. BUNDY HAS MADE OTHER IMPROVEMENTS BY FORCE ACCOUNT UNDER AUTHORITY FROM THE CONTROLLING BOARD AND SO FAR AS CAN BE DETERMINED THE WORK WAS SATISFACTORY AND WHY THE IMPROVEMENT AT O'NEILL HALL WAS HANDLED IN THE UNBUSINESSLIKE MANNER IT WAS, IS HARD TO UNDERSTAND. THE METHODS

"I never was made to feel that I wasn't wanted in a place before in my life," she sobbed brokenly, as she popped the last of the pie into her mouth. "You'd think we hadn't any right to live in this house to you suppose she is now? She ought to be up here, helping us!"

Sally ran downstairs to find her mother.

She found her in the pantry, quietly eating a large slice of blueberry pie, while tears ran down her cheeks and into her mouth. On the shelf beside her lay her hand bag and a new library book.

"I could just bite a piece out of a plate, I'm so angry!" she said when Sally came down to help her. "Now, I'm not going to have those people down stairs in this house! They can stay up where they belong or they can get out!"

It was Sally's unpleasant duty to give this message to her family.

However, they paid no attention to it. In a week's time they were all over the house, whenever they pleased.

It was late one Sunday afternoon in early May. A golden afternoon filled with pale sunlight and the smell of lilacs outside Aunt Emily's dining room window.

In a new lilac-colored dress that she had made with her own hands, Sally was filling salt celars at one of the tiny tables, when she heard the rush of an automobile in the driveway.

A minute later steps came across the wide hall, and she glanced up from her work.

Her blue eyes woke to fire as she saw the tall, dark, good-looking man who stood on the threshold, smiling down at her.

Her heart quivered, gave a great throb, and then seemed to stand quite still in her body. "Idiot!" she said sharply to herself, and stood up.

The flashing, sunny smile that was one of her chief charms, came to her rescue now. It was a wonderful smile—that smile of Sally's. It had covered grief and unhappiness for her many a time, just as now it hid her embarrassment and overwhelming excitement. It was a hard-working smile.

She went forward with all the ease in the world and held out her firm little hand to him. "How nice to see you!" she cried in just the right tone of welcome.

"My, but I'm doing this well!" she told him proudly, as she shook his hand.

"I'll call Millie," she said in the most ordinary tone. "Won't you sit down?"

"I will," he answered, and did. "But I came to see you."

Sally was thunderstruck. Her color deepened in her cheeks, and her eyes darkened and widened with the excitement that burned within her. . . . To see her! He had come to see her! Of all things—

"Me?" she asked on an upward note.

John Nye nodded, gazing around the empty room. "How's your business?"

"Don't mind what Aunt Em says, Mother," she told Mrs. Jerome late at night as she helped her to undress in the big front bedroom where a wood fire roared and warmed the air. "She's up, nervous because we aren't doing very well right now. And I'll see that you get a chicken dinner every now and then."

Mrs. Jerome's face fell. It was plain that she had been counting upon chicken dinners.

Sally's heart went out to her. She seemed so pathetic, sitting there with her red swollen eyes fixed on her plate, and her breast heaving under its blouse of soiled silk. Her clothes had not been fresh and spotless since Sally had left.

Sally had always devoted Saturday nights to cleaning and pressing and mending the clothes of the whole family.

Author of "Your Flag
And My Flag" Was
Born In Xenia

Wilbur Dick Nesbit, 55, well known poet and advertising man, author of the famous "Your Flag and My Flag," and numerous other poems, a native of Xenia, but a resident of Cedarville in his early youth, died suddenly at his home in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, Saturday night.

J. Emerson Nesbit, of Dayton, his brother, said while he had not been well for some time, no alarm was felt regarding his condition. Funeral services will be conducted at his Evanston residence at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and interment will be at Evanston.

John A. Nesbit, cashier of the Xenia National Bank, and Miss Floris Nesbit, of this city, cousins of the deceased, will not attend the funeral, the former being out of the city on a vacation in Kentucky.

Mr. Nesbit was born in Xenia, September 16, 1871, at the home of his grandparents on W. Main St., the house which was his birthplace, being now the property of H. L. Binder. His parents, J. Harvey and Gabel Fichthorn Nesbit, who had spent only a few months in Xenia, moved to Cedarville where he was an infant, and he grew up there. He left Cedarville at the age of eighteen and went to

SHERIFF'S POSSES SURROUND FIELD TO CAPTURE MURDERER

Second Youth, Also Victim Of Bullets, Seriously Hurt

MT. GILEAD, O., Aug. 22.—Sheriff's deputies of Morrow and Knox Counties today were surrounding a cornfield, near here, where Richard Cole, alleged slayer of Harry Swank, 17, Ankenytown, is said to be hiding. Cole, is said to have eluded capture last night, after fatally shooting Swank, and seriously wounding Richard Roberts, 20, Newark.

Mt. VERNON, O., Aug. 22.—Harry Swank, 17, Ankenytown, near here, is dead and Richard Roberts, 20, Newark, is reported dying at Mercy Hospital, while sheriff's posse of Knox and Morrow Counties are searching for Richard Cole, alias Joseph Smith, 27, Fredericksburg, near here.

According to reports, Cole shot the youths with a small automatic pistol in front of his home, Sunday night, after an argument. Cole, it is said, accused Swank and Roberts of stealing a gun from his nephew.

Swank, it is said was shot in the back; Roberts twice near the heart and twice in the left arm.

PAL OF "FLAPPER
BANDIT" IS CAUGHT

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 22.—Implicated as a bank robber in the confession of Vivian Ingram, the "flapper bandit," Alfred Sheets, 27, is awaiting arraignment here today. Sheets surrendered to police last night, after many urgent appeals from his wife. He is charged with being one of two men who robbed the Ohio Savings Bank and Trust Company branch of $10,000, February 26.

Vivian Ingram is serving time at the Marysville Reformatory for women, for another robbery.

WIFE LOSES HOPE
CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 22.—Hope was abandoned today by the wife of Captain William P. Erwin, pilot of the "Dallas Spirit," Pacific mercy plane, that he ever will be found alive. A brother, ill with typhoid fever, in the West Collingswood home of her grandparents, monopolized the attention of Mrs. Erwin during the first trying hours after her husband disappeared, but she has been forced to leave the sickbed and give way to her grief. She is now prostrated by sorrow.

Only a technically placed Mrs. Erwin in the New Jersey home of her relatives instead of in the Pacific with her husband. She and Captain Erwin had completed plans for a flight around the world when at the last minute, the Erwins learned that all contestants for the Easterwood prize had to be 21 years of age or over. Mrs. Erwin is only 19.

ACCUSED FACE DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR TUESDAY MORNING

Howard Hackett Wins Pony

Howard Hackett, 13, Yellow Springs, is the new owner of "Beauty," the pony given away by the Xenia Gazette in a circulation contest that closed Saturday night.

Howard was determined to have the pony and his determination Saturday took the form of a last-minute bundle of subscriptions which credited him votes sufficient to win.

Howard finished with a total of 16,150 votes, just 2,900 votes ahead of Edwin Anderson, Xenia, who compiled a total of 13,250 votes before the contest closed Saturday morning. Howard arose early, caught an early car to Xenia and arrived at the Gazette office with the first of the office force to claim his prize.

The face of the winner beamed

Monday upon all who surveyed him. It seems that several kids prove he knows how to treat a pony. The winner saw "Beauty" in Friday which filled him all the more with determination that he would make the pony his possession. When Howard and "Beauty" met there was mutual approval.

With all of these new subscriptions that Howard brought in he's going to have a big job ahead of him carrying his papers every night. It will take two paper sacks full and "Beauty" can now help him distribute the papers along his route in Yellow Springs. You see, by hanging one paper sack on his side of "Beauty" the load will be balanced but Howard doesn't want to load the pony too heavy.

"Treat him kind and give him lots of sugar—that's what he wants," says Howard, which since she has already offered to let him keep "Beauty" in her big stable. Right across the street is the broad Means home lawn where "Beauty" can eat grass to his hearts' content.

Edwin Anderson, who finished second, will get a nice big check to pay him for his work and console him for his disappointment in not getting the grand prize. Unfortunately, there was but one "Beauty" approved of Howard's beaming countenance and decided they would be friends. Whereupon Howard sealed the bargain with a lump of sugar.

Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hackett, 236 Phillips St., Yellow Springs, and will be a pupil in the eighth grade next year. He lives next door to Mrs. McCormick, 2,500; Bud Nelson, 2,150; Clarence Rachford, 1,850; Jacque Adams, 1,800.

Three Planes

Hope that the seven missing Hawaiian flyers are still alive waned to its lowest ebb today. The Dole planes, "Miss Doran" and "Golden Eagle," were last seen six days ago by lighthouse keepers on the desolate Farallon Islands, 30 miles off the Golden Gate.

The "Dallas Spirit," piloted by "Lone Star Bill" Erwin and guided by Alvin Eichwald, disappeared into the void last Friday night. Erwin's radio told of a tailspin and then whined into silence. Airmen fear he nose-dived into the sea and sank beneath the surface.

His plane was heavily laden for a 32-hour flight to Hawaii today. The navy will abandon the search tomorrow, according to official orders.

Farm Notes

SEED LAWNS NOW

From August 15 to September 15 is the best time in the year to sow grass seed for lawns in Ohio. Although seed stores usually feature lawn seed in the spring the month from mid-August to mid-September is the better time to sow grass seed, farm crop specialists at the Ohio State University say.

The great enemies of young grass in Ohio are heat, drought, weeds. Fall-sown grass can be well established in the fall and make a growth the next spring before it has these enemies to fight. These proportions can be varied considerably to a charge of effect on the result. For very dense shade rough-stalked meadow grass is better than Kentucky bluegrass.

A good seed mixture for Ohio is Kentucky bluegrass, 70 per cent red-top 15 per cent, white clover 5 per cent, and timothy or English ryegrass, or both, 10 per cent.

"There's nothing else to do for recreation," said Hart, a shoe worker, who came to Xenia two weeks ago.

"Fifteen and costs," replied his honor. "First it was $10 and costs, and the next time it will be $25 and costs. You are as-cending by a graduated scale." Hart paid his fine.

RECKLESS DRIVER GIVEN SENTENCE

Sam Larry, Home Ave., drew a fine of $50 and costs, a sentence of fifteen days in jail and his driving privileges were rescinded for six months by Mayor John W. Prugh Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving. The days were suspended upon condition of his good behavior.

Larry is charged with driving an automobile belonging to Mrs. Nettie Marsh, Home Ave., into a machine from the Anderson Rent-a-Car garage, and operated by Lawrence Beauford, on E. Main St., near the fire station Saturday night. Both cars were damaged.

PAIR GETS FINES

Richard Reed and Harry Martin, both of Dayton, got drunk and engaged in an argument in the Interurban restaurant Saturday night. They pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly charges before Mayor Prugh and paid fines amounting to $10 and costs.

FORFEIT BONDS

R. Williams and F. W. Bell, arrested by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin on speeding charges, forfeited $5 bonds deposited for their appearance in court.

LIGHTHISER BUYS ORIENT HILL STORE

The Orient Hill Grocery, Monroe and Hill Sts., was sold last week by H. W. Anderson to E. E. Lightisher, who owned and conducted the same business several years ago. Mr. Lightisher, who will be assisted in the management of the store by his son, Howard Lightisher, took charge Saturday.

Mr. Anderson has owned the grocery two years, purchasing the business from Taylor and Baker. Mr. Lightisher owned the store six or seven years ago.

Mr. Anderson has not announced his future plans. Mr. Lightisher will continue his work at the Dayton and Xenia Traction Co. ticket office here.

DISMISSED CASE FOR LACK OF TESTIMONY

When testimony of the two prosecuting witnesses conflicted, Probate Judge S. C. Wright dismissed a charge of selling intoxicating liquor against Calvin Null, of Oregon, Monday morning.

The entire city took on a festive air and Xenians were enthusiastically awaiting the hour set for the picnic to begin. The picnic program was scheduled to start at 3 o'clock with games and contests for the children lasting until 5 o'clock.

The Boy Scouts were scheduled to stage a tilting match at 5 o'clock. The Auto Polo Club held two games enlivening the picnic spirit, one at 2:30 and the other at 4. The cafeteria supper, furnished from booths placed throughout the park was set for 5:30 o'clock.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE SAINTS:—God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about Him. Psalm 89:7.

SPEEDING OCEAN TRAFFIC

Flying off on to passenger liners plying between the United States and Europe ought to become fairly general practice within the next few years, among those who can afford to pay for the luxury of saving a day or two in a transatlantic voyage.

Already it has been demonstrated that the thing can be done. It remains for the larger liners to get the practice going as a commercial enterprise, out of which the owners of the liners should make money. Not every passenger liner can afford to carry such space-occupiers as passenger airplanes, but all of the very large vessels should be thus equipped in the near future.

Meanwhile, we shall be looking for the air liner which shall cross the ocean regularly with a small load of passengers and mail at each trip. These will fly just as mid-ocean landing stations are ready.

WHEN BIG BUSINESS LEADERS PLAY

That the necessity for regular exercise is now recognized by the most successful of modern industrial and financial giants is the conclusion reached by Otto Stepat, writing in "Forbes Magazine." "It is becoming recognized," Mr. Stepat writes, "that large scale success is in no minor degree dependent upon exercise. The men of power in Wall street are nearly all big and strong. The leading merchants and manufacturers of New York City, as they gather at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce or the Merchants' Association, make an impression of physical vigor and energy that could not be equalled by a convention of farmers."

According to Mr. Stepat the love of executives for athletics and the tendency toward it through indulgence, are likewise resulting in more vacations. The athletic character, too, of executives tends toward an increasing attention to the current sport of employees, and the belief that a worker who does not play cannot be 100 percent efficient in body or mind is found to hold good for the employee as well as the executive.

Numerous leaders of American industry have their pet method for keeping fit.

John D. Rockfeller is already famous for his nine holes of golf. Other executives who use this form of exercise to keep in trim are Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Guaranty Trust company of New York; Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company; George F. Baker, president of the First National Bank of New York; and W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE UPSTAGE PEOPLE

There are people who are both sad and funny. They are the "upstage people"—the ones who take themselves so seriously they are never quite natural. It is said that the Greatest Man who ever lived was so powerful he could feed five thousand people from a few baskets of food. And this man was not so proud to ask a lowly peasant woman for a drink of water at a roadside well.

"Nothing is more simple than greatness," said Emerson. "Indeed, to be simple is to be great."

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Children cannot be grouped and classified according to age. Some are smart and some are dull. Others are worse than that. Intelligence tests, little believed in by old-fashioned people, are used to try them out. Grown-ups might find some of the questions hard. For example, in the Binet test, a question for twelve-year-olds is this: Explain the meaning of pity, revenge, charity, envy, justice. And sixteen-year-olds are asked to distinguish between laziness and idleness; evolution and revolution; poverty and misery; character and reputation.

BLUE STRIPES

When Lord, director of the budget, noticed that government mail bags had blue stripes he asked why. He went all the way along the line and clear to the top. He never found anybody who knew. So he discontinued the blue stripes and saved the government $40,000 a year.

Have you some blue stripes that might just as well be dropped off?

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

First impressions are important. It's unfortunate that they are. They are frequent wrong, inaccurate. We cannot always judge matter by the first glance; neither can we judge personality by the first impression. Be tolerant with new acquaintances. Wait until the facts are all in.

Songs of a Housewife

BY MARJORIE K. RAWLINGS

PLEASING EVERYBODY

(Suggested by Mrs. Victor L.)

Pleasing everybody—or trying to! Wondering whether a meal will "do"—This is the housewife's fount of grief—And that's the trouble with a roast of beef!

Some like it hot and others cold, Some want it standing, others, rolled. Most like it rare, but there's always one Who feels abused if it's not well done.

Down on my knees by the oven door—Had I better give it a minute more? When it's cooked just right, it's brown of skin, Well-done without but rare within.

When it's being carved my heart stands still—

Is it too well-done for Cousin Bill? The crisis is passed and my breathing's eased—

The roast's just right—everybody's pleased!

Twenty Years '07 - Ago - '27

Gus Elchman is in the city handing out to his friends neat samples of "Cremo" cigars. Gus developed into a high class salesman of the "weed." The Commercial Club of Yellow Springs is to take up the matter of devising means to erect a small modern hotel of 25 or 30 rooms. The home-coming at Bellbrook will be held Sept. 2, and headquarters have been set up. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nash left Thursday for Petoskey, Mich.

All hair should receive frequent brushing. However, if it is bobbed, the scalp does not get enough exercise from brushing alone, as there is no resistance or "pull." You should massage it vigorously at least ten minutes a day, and you would find it tremendously beneficial to take hold of strands of hair all over your head and pull each one separately with quick, sharp jerks.

If you are afraid of spoiling a wave, don't let that be an excuse to neglect your hair, or you are but Urquhart has his car.

Millards Beat Reserves In Slugging Contest

DODSON'S BENDERS

Narrow Victory Wins
For Visitors—Club
Stronger

By A. C. BALES

Hammering out safe hits to all corners of the lot, Millards Clothers of Springfield eked out a narrow 8 to 7 verdict over the Reserves, at Washington Park, Sunday afternoon. Pushing over one run in the ninth inning after tying up matters the previous inning, they managed to cop the old ball game and tie up the series, making another game necessary to determine the better team.

It will be remembered that just two weeks ago after everything but the shouting was apparently over, this same team unleashed terrific rallies in the last two innings that just lacked one run of tying the count. In the second game however, they were more successful and after the local team had assumed a 7 to 4 lead they pulled their spurt and finally gained victory in the final stanza.

The local club took the field with its strongest lineup of the year and played good ball but the Springfield boys simply would not be denied. At that the Millards were somewhat loaded over the previous visit with the addition in the box of Bill Tracy, who has been doing mound duty for the Dayton Central League team. He granted the local sluggers but seven hits which were well scattered, Gilmarin at short was also a new addition to their ranks.

Jesse Chambliss also had a new face in his lineup in the person of Fennell a third baseman from Dayton. They claim that he really belongs in the outfield but the writer, after observing him in three games, must disagree for he simply ran away with everything that came down his way, his best offering being a sensational catch of a hot liner in the eighth. He also crashed out two nice hits. Mike Weller, who has been playing the best ball of his long career this season, also contributed a bang up game and featured with three catches of foul flies one of which he snagged over the visitors bench and on another chance he grabbed the ball right off the netting, protecting the cash customers in the grand stand.

Jug Conley crashed out home run in the first inning and after Durnbaugh got a life when Gilmarin dropped his fly, Scott came across with a double to left scoring Durnbaugh. Another run was added in the fourth when Johnson singled, stole second and third and came on in when Snarr made a bad peg trying to head him off at third. In the fifth two runs came over on a sacrifice fly coupled with a wild heave by the shortstop. Fennell scored two runners in the seventh when he singled off Tracy's glove.

The Clothiers scored twice in the second on three hits and an error and in the sixth a walk, two singles and a double produced two more tallies. Three hits and error and interference by the home club on a passed ball scored three more in the seventh. They won out in the final frame on two errors, a sacrifice and a fielder's choice. Snarr was the leading slugger of the day with two singles and a double. Maxton played a nice game in center field getting two hits besides adding two nice catches.

Johnson was given the gate by the umpire in the eighth after he had been called out for interfering with Tracy when the pitcher was fielding his bunt. Johnson ran inside the base line whereas the rules provide that the runner must stay in a three foot path outside the line to first.

GEOLOGIST ESCAPES FROM CAVE BY NEW PASSAGE INTO GEORGIA

Explorer In Semi-Hysterical Condition After Escape
Followed Air Current To Hitherto Unknown Opening

NICKAJACK CAVE, Shobimound, Tenn., Aug. 22.—In a semi-hysterical condition, Lawrence Ashley, geologist-explorer, lost in the myriad of subterranean passages, lakes and rivers of Nickajack Cave for almost a week, was resting easily today after having walked from his living tomb through a new exit in Georgia. Emerging from his living tomb yesterday morning after having spent eight days burrowing through the subterranean passages of Sand Mountain, Ashley stumbled into the sunlight and fresh air again at a wild and desolate spot known as Castle Rock on the Georgia side, about five miles from the entrance of the cave.

His face black with a week's beard, his clothing torn and caked with clay and his battered and torn knapsack upon his bent back, Ashley came upon the child of John Campbell, local farmer, who screamed the news to her father. Refusing help, he made his way towards home, babbling wildly and incoherently.

After a hearty meal, Ashly narrated a brief account of his experiences in the underground caverns of Sand Mountain, warded off newspapermen and went to sleep. "I started Monday morning to explore the new opening which I had discovered and which I thought must lead to a chamber or inner cavern that had not been explored before," he said. "With provisions and equipment for a stay of two days in the cave, I took my time about the exploration and it was Tuesday afternoon when I started out."

"The entrance to this new passage was very small, a hole through a lot of loose dirt. I had been afraid that this dirt would collapse behind me but it was not until I started out, crawling backwards through the opening, that my fears were realized and there was an avalanche of loose dirt and rocks."

"The fall was heavy and the opening was completely closed. I was trapped by a thick new wall of boulders and clay, through which I figured it would be almost impossible to dig. And there I was shut up in the strange passage that I had been planning to explore and in which I already had spent two days.

"I remember having found a spring in this new passage and that as I stood, by this spring which was in a large chamber, I felt a current of air coming as if from within. I remember having made up my mind at that time to go into the matter of this strange current with the thought that it indicated a new outlet. Now that I was trapped and prevented by the slide from retracing the old way to the cave mouth, I decided to seek the course of the air current."

"Ashley then related how he worked along the new passage seeking the source of the air current, sometimes walking and sometimes crawling through the variegated crevices where once an underground river had carved its channel before seeking a lower level. Where the passage was too small, he cut his way with a trench shovel until he found the air current's source from which he emerged dazed, hysterical and semi-conscious from his weird experience.

WILL HOLD SHOOT

A clay bird shoot will be a feature of the picnic of the Greene County Fox and Coon Hunters' Association, Wednesday, in the Turner grove near Jamestown, according to a last minute decision. Guns should be taken by those who wish to take part in the shooting.

NICKELS ARE TRUMPS

A Good Cigar at 5c per is Winning Smokers Everywhere!

It's hard to believe that a cigar at five cents can be really mild, fragrant, satisfying. Plenty of them are advertised that way. And plenty of them have disappointed smokers who tried them out. Not strange that many men shy at five-cent sellers.

But there is a cigar at that price which really satisfies. There is a cigar at that price which is made of rich, ripe tobacco. A fragrant, mild and mellow cigar which has appealed to particular smoking men for thirty years. The name is Havana Ribbon.

Havana Ribbon couldn't please you more if it cost twice as much. And it would cost much more if it wasn't made in tremendous volume. Say "Havana Ribbon" to the man behind the counter at any cigar store. All you need is a single nickel and a little faith. Your reward will come when you light up!

SHOOTING VICTIM UNABLE TO APPEAR FOR HEARING HERE

Because of the condition of Thomas Finke, the prosecuting witness, who is still a patient at Miami Valley Hospital, the preliminary hearing of Donald C. Pierce, Indian Rifle Road, who is charged with shooting with intent to kill, and which was to have been held before J. E. Jones, justice of the peace, Monday morning, was postponed one week. It will take place next Monday, August 29.

Sheriff Ohmer Tate said that he has heard that the shooting took place in Montgomery County, and in the event that this is proven, Pierce, who is held under $1000 bond, will be turned over to Montgomery County authorities.

Finke has so far refused to disclose details of the attack. He told his employer that Pierce jumped on the running board of his car and shot him, but refused to tell where the shooting occurred. He drove about four miles to a doctor in Hearthstone Plat, and when he arrived there his clothing was afire from a shot which had entered the left groin and emerged at the back. This shot pierced an intestine, but doctors at the Miami Valley Hospital said that he is making satisfactory recovery. He also had powder burns on his left arm and hand.

After a hearty meal, Ashly narrated a brief account of his experiences in the underground caverns of Sand Mountain, warded off newspapermen and went to sleep. "I started Monday morning to explore the new opening which I had discovered and which I thought must lead to a chamber or inner cavern that had not been explored before," he said. COMPANY F REUNION WILL BE HELD AT HOME HERE SEPTEMBER 3

Former members of Company F, of a tenth anniversary celebration. A silver loving cup awarded the company basketball team when it won the championship of Camp Sherman in the winter of 1917-1918, will be exhibited at the reunion.

The cup is in the possession of John Collins, near Cedarville, member of the guard team that won the title. Major Edmunds has completed compiling a history of the company that he will distribute at the reunion this year.

The personnel of the company was drawn from Greene, Fayette, Clinton and Highland Counties principally and it is hoped that a large percentage of the enrollment of 300 will attend this year's gathering.

Officers of the unit during the war will be present. They include Dr. W. P. Edmunds, St. Louis, Mo., one time company commander, later battalion major, now athletic director at Washington University, St. Louis; Captain Basquin, Big Prairie, O.; Lieutenants Kagy, Cook and Clark, all of Cleveland; Captain H. C. Brookshire, Dayton, one time commander of Company E will be a guest of the association.

Turnbull's committee is planning an all-day program, which will include meetings at the armory at the Home, where two meals will be served by the auxiliary of Food Post, American Legion. Special significance attaches to the meeting because the company was formed September 6, 1917 and this year's reunion will be in the na-

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Peter's Adventures

"NOBODY HOME!"
"Oh!" cried Peter, and stamped his foot. In the twinkling of an eye he found himself looking at nothing but the glossy box. The head and feet had disappeared. The boy tapped sharply upon the lid that covered them.

"Don't go in hiding again, old foot because I was mad at you! Well, you're all wrong. True, I did lose my temper, but just for a moment. I was provoked at my own self for not knowing who you were the moment I set eyes on you. I hate to be so stupid, and after all the time I have spent in animal land, too! Be a sport and forget it. Come out from cover, Turtle, and let's be friends. I am sorry I frightened you. I'll try not to again."

At these words out popped that head and those legs. For the second time the boy came to life and now the wide mouth was stretched in a friendly grin.

"Oh, you didn't scare me a bit—only jarred me a little, that's all!" Turtle sneezed and snorted. "So you think you were stupid not to recognize me at sight, heh? Well, it may surprise you to learn that you haven't recognized me yet. That was a mighty good guess you made, but not quite right. Evidently I am the first one of my race you have ever met, or you would have known who I was when I drew in my head and legs out of sight!" Not any of my cousins, the Turtles—and I ought to know, for they are my cousins—can close up their front door quite tight and make believe there's nobody home to even the insects. Most of them have to leave their heads and feet outside when they go inside their houses."

"OH DEAR!" CRIED THE BOY AND STAMMED HIS FOOT! "COME OUT OF YOUR SHELL! THERE ARE LOTS OF THINGS I WANT TO KNOW," said he.

"Well, you can't find them out now. I am not so silly to come out while a Two-Legs is mad. No, siree! Folks must keep their temper and treat me kindly if they expect I am going to speak to them! I did nothing to make you angry!" Half smothered but as gruff as ever came the voice from under the box.

"Angry!" exclaimed the boy. For a moment Peter was surprised. He couldn't think what made the creature think he had lost his temper. Then he remembered. Peter laughed.

DEWATTLED: ROOSTERS

PETALUMA, Cal.—The time-honored privilege of roosters to wear their wattles as nature intended them to do, is doomed. Hereafter they will have to submit their heads to the barber for a "boyish bob." All this because chicken experts determined that these appendages are unsanitary and disease carriers. "Dewattled" roosters fare much better, is the claim.

HIGH PRESSURE PETE

BY SWAN

Indiana, where he embarked immediately in the newspaper business. He was employed on papers in Anderson, Richmond, and Indianapolis, and while in Indianapolis in 1890, married Miss Mary Lee Jenkins, who survives him with three sons.

Following a short dip in advertising, he resumed his newspaper work and became employed by the Baltimore American, where he ran a column of humor under the name of "Josh Winks." It was while he was working for the American that his poetic ability became more fully developed and he wrote the famous poem, "Your Flag and My Flag," which in beauty of presentation and patriotic sense stands almost unrivaled. It has been set to music by various composers.

He afterward went to Chicago, where he conducted a column for the Chicago Tribune for several years. While he was there his first book "The Trail to Bayland," a collection of poems bearing the name of the first, which was said to portray incidents of his youth in Cedarville, was issued.

A number of years ago he deserted the newspaper game for the advertising business, but continued his writings. He was successful in business as well as a writer, and at the time of his death was vice-president of the William H. Rankin Advertising Agency.

He wrote "Girl of My Dreams," a musical play, which was a huge success about a dozen years ago, starring John Hyatt and his wife, Lella McIntyre, and which was revived later.

Since his first collection of poems was given to the public, Mr. Nesbit issued other works, all his poems being characterized by a beauty which touched the heart and many of them of a quality which will cause them to live always in the hearts of those who see beauty in the things of everyday life. His later books of poems were "The Gentleman Rascals," 1906; "The Land of Make Believe" and other Christmas Poems, 1906; "A Friend or Two," 1908.

He was a member of the Forty Club, Chicago; the Columbia Club, Indianapolis, and the University Club, Evanston. He had been a resident of Chicago twenty years.

DETECTIVE URGES REINSTATEMENT OF "FIRED" EMPLOYEES

It strikes me that the reasons

connected with the Wilberforce University

given out to the public for the discharge of these persons are only "smoke screens" to hide the real facts that the identity of the real persons or persons upon whose shoulders the responsibility of the irregularities and discrepancies rests. The persons dismissed have no great political influence, at least not of sufficient importance to enable them to retain their jobs. They are entirely innocent of the charge lodged against them but it has always been and probably will be for many years to come that the weak and oftentimes the innocent are at the mercy of the strong and where there is any considerable degree of personal interest involved the strong have no mercy.

I do not consider it any special honor to impose the penalty of dismissal of innocent persons in order to save, to a greater or lesser degree, just criticism of the person or persons whose official conduct, in the handling of the funds of Wilberforce University, inspired the investigation.

It is almost unbelievable that the Board of Trustees of Wilberforce University could ignore the report of your examiner, Mr. Auditor, and dismiss employees whom your examiner stated in his report to be capable, efficient, honest and industrious and yet retain the superintendent, whom this same examiner stated in the same report, clearly, is subject to great criticism without their conduct meeting your disapproval and public condemnation.

In order to remove all doubt as to the justice as well as to the accuracy of the foregoing statements permit me to call your attention to page 51, paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of the report of Mr. E. Frank Brown, the gentleman employed by you to make the investigation. Said report filed in your office February 3d, 1927, recites the following:

"The superintendent then went ahead to get the building ready for use and there was expended $763.08 by force account to finish the job. Hearing that some of the work was done over because the work was not properly done by the Columbus Plumbing Company, Xenia, your examiner called on Bocklett-King Company who did work there amounting to $176.50 and they said the work they did was new work and so far as they knew the work of the Columbus Plumbing Company was well done."

"THE MANNER IN WHICH THIS IMPROVEMENT WAS HANDLED SHOWS VERY POOR MANAGEMENT AND BAD BUSINESS METHODS."

"The agreement with the Columbus Plumbing Co. meant nothing as the result showed. THE SUPPLICATION OF PAYMENT FOR MATERIAL WHILE NOT PERHAPS CRIMINAL WAS TO SAY THE LEAST, DONE IN A WAY THAT LOOKS LIKE AN ATTEMPT TO DECEIVE THE STATE PAID TWICE FOR THE SAME MATERIAL WITH AN ADVANCE IN ONE PAYMENT OF 10 PER CENT OVER THE OTHER. CONSEQUENTLY THE STATE IS OUT THE AMOUNT OF THAT PAYMENT, $246.90. The Columbus Plumbing Co., received $46.90 for material they never paid for, and this amount should never have been included in their voucher. The Xenia Coal Company was not benefited in the transaction other than a fair profit on merchandise sold. SUPT. BUNDY HAS MADE OTHER IMPROVEMENTS BY FORCE ACCOUNT UNDER AUTHORITY FROM THE CONTROLLING BOARD AND SO FAR AS CAN BE DETERMINED THE WORK WAS SATISFACTORY AND WHY THE IMPROVEMENT AT O'NEILL HALL WAS HANDLED IN THE UNBUSINESSLIKE MANNER IT WAS, IS HARD TO UNDERSTAND. THE METHODS
